Childhood nostalgia

Konstantino Blokbergen, founder of Firebake — Woodfired Bakehouse & Restaurant, goes back to his childhood this Christmas with three festive heritage dishes to be available only in December — his mother's Greek Cookies Melomakarona ($10++ for six); Festive Chicken ($50++), a family favourite; and a classic German dessert, the Christmas Kugelhopf ($25++). Do order in advance for both dine-in and take-away requests, as production of these dishes is limited.

The brunch bunch

Aside from classic Italian favourites prepared à la minute and a live carving station, highlights of Zafferano's Christmas Day Brunch include a Christmas dessert bar that offers an array of assorted macarons and homemade tiramisu. Priced at $138++ per person, it includes unlimited pouring of G.H. Mumm Champagne, beer, house wines, juices and soft drinks.

Sky-high celebrations

Take in dazzling views of this year's city light-ups from 282m above at Stellar at 1-Altitude, where executive chef Christopher Millar is offering five-course Christmas Eve and Day dinners starting from $130++ per person. Back by popular demand is also the Christmas

Day Brunch Buffet ($140++ per adult) for a full-on spread of seafood, fete gras and more.

Teatime merriment

For the whole of December save for Christmas day, SPRMRKT Kitchen & Bar is serving up its Unusual Tea Party cocktail — an elixir of Hendrick's Gin and rose tea mixed with lemon, cucumber, mint and Cerana honey sourced from Thailand — in dainty porcelain teaware. Enjoy this whimsical Alice in Wonderland-esque experience for $16++ per person and $48++ for a party of four.

Be dazzled

Kick off the New Year with unobstructed, front-row views of the countdown fireworks at Saint Pierre, which is offering an exclusive one-night-only 10-course dinner on Dec 31. At $588++ per person, this all-encompassing menu combines culinary gems, such as the Hokkaido king scallop and butter-crust puff of black winter truffle and champagne, with the finest champagnes and wines in the house.

Bag these treats

A smorgasbord of seasonal gourmet takeaway treats will be available from Dec 1 to 26 at Goodwood Park Hotel's The Deli. Guests can purchase both sweet and savoury creations, including the new Chinese-style 12 Treasures Turkey ($268) as well as the famed Goodwood "Mao Shan Wang" Durian Christmas Log Cake ($69). Orders should be made at least five days in advance.
